

IN THE FIELD OF LABOR

LABOR INTERESTS DISCUSSED IN THE WEEKLY CONGRESS.

In Union There is Strength, and There is Strength in the Unions as Shown by the Work They Have Accomplished in Various Ways — Notes.

New York, May 13.—The usual meeting of the Central labor union of this city was held, the attendance being well up to the average. A carpet-worker occupied the chair. The trades council of New Haven has recommended J. F. Bushe as chief of the Connecticut bureau of labor statistics, and asked his endorsement by the Central labor union, which was granted, several of the delegates being personally acquainted with the candidate. The English-speaking bakers are taking active steps to push the boycott of the Brooklyn baker, Horson, and will hold a mass meeting to lay the facts before the public of the condition of his men and of bakers in general. The German bakers are looking forward to a national union of their trade. They are fast gaining ground in this city.

The German bricklayers' amalgamated union have been taking in large numbers of men who left them last season. A pamphlet containing the statistics of their trade has been published by cigar makers' progressive union No. 1. It is an interesting document, and is printed in English, German and Bohemian. The Yonkers strike, reported a delegate, has been in progress twelve weeks, but the struggle has just begun. The clergy of that city have been ordered to "build up" the strikers into returning to work. It was stated that a Yonkers paper had been subsidized by the mill-owners, and that an Associated Press reporter had been "approached" to give one side of the trouble, but he could not be "so n." The concert committee said the concert for the benefit of the strikers, on June 7, promised to be a great success.

The cabinet-makers and wood-carvers employed by Nichol & Co., One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street, are on a strike, the former for fifteen per cent. advance, and the latter because they were hired at $16 a week and on pay-day received only $12.

"Strangers coming into the city and trade picking up," reported the shoemakers.

The machinists in this city and vicinity are unorganized, although efforts are being made in that direction. The manufacturing tailors are those who work on "store" clothes, and are very poorly paid for their labor, being mostly men and women who do not speak English. Efforts have been repeatedly made to draw them into a union, but they are suspicious. Some of the more intelligent of their number are working among them, and on Wednesday, May 20, a mass meeting will be held at Concordia assembly rooms, when they will be shown what can be accomplished by organization.

The union has set apart the first Monday in September as a labor holiday. A committee was appointed to make preliminary arrangements.

On the requisition of the executive committee of Typographical union No. 6, the resolution passed referring to Mr. Martin B. Brown as a "rat printer" was rescinded, it appearing that the scale was now paid in his office.

The delegates had read of the case of Cooper—not Cooper, as the types had it—and were anxious to do something to show their sympathy. A resolution was offered by a member of Progressive Union No. 13 that the secretary communicate with Gov. Hill, asking him to pardon Cooper. A mass meeting is also to be held this week, at which the speeches of the assistant district attorney will be criticised. "The hand of fellowship" was extended to Cigar-makers' union No. 14, which will be asked to co-operate in the arrangements.

Rochester Iron Moulders' Strike.
ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 13.—A week closed without seeing any change in the condition of the iron moulders' strike, and no conference of the opposing forces has been had since last Monday. The assistance of the iron moulder's national union is to be invoked. Assemblyman Hickey, vice president of that union, will probably be here when a special meeting of the union will be called and the most effective means adopted to bring the strike to a speedy close.

End of the Trenton strike.
TRENTON, N. J., May 13.—The striking hollow-nare pressers of the Trenton potteries have resumed work. They have been out two weeks in consequence of a disputed interpretation of the agreement between them and the manufacturers. The manufacturers the knights of labor and the pressers each appointed a committee of conference and these committees met. The result was an understanding satisfactory to all parties.

The bakers in Albany are busy organizing bosses who refuse to sign the schedule of prices.

Most of the striking miners of the Pittsburgh district are at work. The railroad miners are working at two and one-half cents per bushel, and in the river pits at three cents.

Women constitute over a quarter of Germany's agricultural laborers. Of 4,992,348 persons engaged in agricultural work in the last census 1,539,880 were females.

Eighty-four assemblies of the knights of labor were organized last month. They number among their members one governor, one United States senator, three congressmen and 123 members of state legislatures.

The master masons of Troy have decided to hire men wherever they could be procured. The striking bricklayers say that the boss masons are endeavoring to boycott them by preventing their doing small jobs on their own account.

The strike of Paris (France) tailors is failing, the strikers being in want of funds. Delegates from the leading cloth and silk merchants have offered the employers facilities to renew bills if they become embarrassed through the strike.

The phrase "printer's devil" owes its origin to the fact that the first errand-boy employed by William Caxton, the first English printer, was the son of a gentleman of French descent named De Ville, or Deville, and the name thus came to be applied to printers' apprentices.

The Philadelphia association of plasterers' laborers have resolved to equalize the wages of its members. Some are receiving $2.75 a day, while others are working for $2.50. Those receiving the smaller sum will strike on the 17th inst., unless they get the other twenty-five cents.
